

University of Hawai'i, John A. Burns School of Medicine
Statement of Institutional Commitment to Graduate Medical Education

The University of Hawai'i (University) as the parent institution of the John A. Burns School of Medicine (UH JABSOM), assumes ultimate responsibility for all of the graduate medical education programs under its sponsorship. UH JABSOM shall bear the responsibility, directly and/or through contractual arrangements and affiliation agreements, for providing all necessary administrative, educational, financial, and human resources to achieve exemplary nationally accredited graduate medical education programs.

In support of its vision, the University is committed to excellence in both education and patient care and establishes an ethical and scholarly environment for these activities. Through the UH JABSOM Designated Institutional Official and the Graduate Medical Education Committee, the University will meet or exceed compliance with the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) Institutional Requirements and ensure that all its ACGME accredited-programs meet or exceed compliance with the Institutional, Common and specialty-specific Program Requirements and ACGME Policies and Procedures. To provide effective educational experiences for residents that lead to measurable performance outcomes, the University commits to obtaining appropriate clinical venues through agreements with approved health care facilities and their organized medical staff. Within these venues the University will provide guidance and supervision of residents while facilitating their professional, ethical and personal development, and is committed to and responsible for promoting patient safety and resident well-being.

This statement of commitment, approved by the Graduate Medical Education Committee, is supported by UH JABSOM's governing authority, administration and faculty.

(Approved by the UH JABSOM Graduate Medical Education Committee and UH JABSOM Executive Committee. Endorsed by the Hawaii Residency Programs, Inc. Board of Directors and the UH JABSOM Faculty Senate).
