

April 20-21 2017

The John A. Burns School of Medicine invites the University of Hawai'i community and the public to our annual Biomedical Sciences and Health Disparities Research Symposium.

BIOMEDICAL SCIENCES AND HEALTH DISPARITIES RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

SULLIVAN CONFERENCE CENTER, UH CANCER CENTER, 701 ILALO STREET, HONOLULU

DAY 1, THURSDAY, APRIL 20

9:00-11:30 POSTER SESSION 1

Divisions: Faculty, Residents, Medical Students, Medical Fellows, Researchers, Post-Doctoral Fellows, Researcher Associates

12:00-1:00 Keynote address by Margaret McFall-Ngai, PhD, Director of Pacific Biosciences Research Center
MEB 315 Auditorium

"The health consequences of living in a microbial world: Lessons from model systems"

DAY 2, FRIDAY, APRIL 21

9:00-11:30 POSTER SESSION 2

Division: Graduate Students

12:00-12:45 Memorial Tribute for Rosanne Harrigan, PhD
MEB 315 Auditorium

"How experience, faith and chance can shape your academic career development"

Dr. Beatriz Rodriguez, Dr. Dominic Chow, Dr. Shane Morita

1:00-3:15 POSTER SESSION 3

Division: Undergraduates

For More Information: Lyn Hamamura at 692-1514 or lynh@hawaii.edu, <http://rmatrix2.jabsom.hawaii.edu/biosymp/>

PRESENTED BY

